

Would you eat only dry processed cereal every day for the rest of your life and believe you were going to be healthy? Please don't do that to your dog!

Full Bio: Dr. Janice Elenbaas was a very successful Doctor of Chiropractic in Toronto Canada for 20 years. In a rather unique twist, she became the first woman in Canada to complete a certification course to adjust animals and sat on the initial Ontario Veterinarian Chiropractic Association (OVCA) board. For more than 15 years, she combined a busy human practice with a thriving animal practice, while at the same time helping to educate both Vets and Chiropractors in the field of Animal Chiropractic. During that same time, Dr. Elenbaas founded Canadian Equine Sports Therapy, Inc., Canada's first and ultimately finest rehabilitation center for horses. Combine this with four years of nutritional training, and Dr. Elenbaas has a unique perspective on animals.

Having always been a proponent of natural healthy foods for her own family including her dogs she has a passion for health manifesting itself from the “inside out”. Shortly after moving to South Carolina and seeing the number of dogs suffering from allergies, hot spots and more she started researching alternatives to traditional commercial dog foods. Facing a dearth of healthy options coupled with the timing of the horrific “melamine recalls” of the time, Dr

Elenbaas decided to share her own formulas with the retail consumer. Extensive testing by both independent labs and the South Carolina Dept of Ag showed that the long term health benefits Dr Elenbaas’ own dogs had enjoyed was no accident. Lucky Dog Cuisine was born and has been thriving ever since. With an emphasis on “whole foods”, client education and unparalleled service, dogs throughout the Continental US now enjoy access to Lucky Dog Cuisine delivered right to their door.

Dr. Elenbaas currently lives in Beaufort, SC, with her husband, Jeff, and her two dogs, Murphy and Molly. She is also the mother of two adult children, loves riding horses, and enjoys her involvement with various animal rescue groups.

Byline: Dr. Janice Elenbaas spent 20 years as a Doctor of Chiropractic, including 15 years adjusting animals and four years of nutrition training. She is the owner, president, and chef for Lucky Dog Cuisine. For more information, go to www.luckydogcuisine.com or email her at Janice@luckydogcuisine.com.